

The Camas Mill becomes a subsidiary of James River Corporation of Richmond, Virginia.

1987

The Lady Island wood fiber landfill began with construction of Cell I. Cell II was completed in 1988 and Cell III finished in 1992.

1992

The mill completed a three-year, $80 million energy and recovery modernization designed to increase energy efficiencies and reduce emissions.

1993

The mill installed and started up a $13 million reprographic paper converting facility.

1997

James River Corporation merges with Fort Howard Corporation to form Fort James Corporation.

2000

Georgia Pacific acquires the Fort James Corporation.